About Sources of Income and How We Advance Work in California and Nationwide

The ACLU Foundation of Northern California (Foundation) and the ACLU of Northern California (Union) are separately incorporated nonprofit organizations operating in Northern California. The Foundation conducts litigation and public education programs in support of civil liberties. The Foundation is a 501(c)(3) organization, and contributions to it are tax deductible to the extent allowed by law. The Union conducts membership outreach and organizing, legislative advocacy, and lobbying. It is supported primarily by membership dues. It is a 501(c)(4) organization, which means that donations to it are not tax deductible.

The majority of funding for the Foundation and the Union comes from individuals like you. The organizations' effectiveness and impact depend upon our full community of stakeholders, which includes those contributing financial resources: private donations, foundation grants, bequests, and membership dues from individuals and organizations that are dedicated to advancing civil liberties for all. Neither the Foundation nor Union accept government grants, except the Foundation may receive court-awarded attorneys' fees from successful cases. The Foundation never charges clients for legal representation.

The ACLU is a federated organization, comprising the national ACLU and affiliates in every state. The national ACLU and the ACLU of Northern California share your generous donations made in our region. Recognizing differences in available local support, the ACLU makes additional investments in its affiliates around the country that would otherwise be unable to address the serious threats to civil liberties in their states.

In recent years, the boards of the ACLU of Northern California have gone above and beyond the ACLU's gift sharing rules and made additional allocations from our region to support the work in other parts of the country.

Following the generous support at the end of last fiscal year (see adjoining page), ACLU of Northern California allocated $3 million to the national ACLU to make grants to ACLU affiliates to protect voting rights in battleground states.
